MILK-BUYING CLUB SAVES 3.13 CENTS ON EVERY QUART

Sponsor for new scheme to reduce cost of milk by revising the distribution system.

each day, due to war conditions, severa hundred householders, members of Wilson Normal Community Center have been stirred to action by the declaration of Dr. Hemry E. Jackson, field agent of the United States Bureau of Education that they are "spilling" 3.13 cents worth of milk for every quart they buy.

"Don't spill the milk," admonishes Dr. Jackson.

"Who way 14 to 15 cents per quart for

Or. Jackson.
"Why pay 18 to 16 cents per quart for milk when you can get it, through a little extra effort for 12 cents," he

The Community Center wanted to know "how?" Dr. Jackson explained. Today, after a ten-day campaign, they have a compact organization formed with more than 300 members into a co-ceptable, with known of the operative milk-buying club.

Three reports will be adopted by Community Center members. The sestions of Dr. Jackson are: 'Get your milk from one southrough our Buying Club so that it be delivered like mall from door milk get 320 consumers signed up, deliveries will begin. Only few names remained to be gottes, and it is believed that the plan will be given a test immediately after Christmas. It is estimated that the delivery of 320 quarts a day's work for one team.

If the Wilson Normal Community other units will be added and more other units will be added and more milk buying clubs will be organized and routes laid out for the milk deal-ers, by other community associations. The number of tickets that such member of the club must purchase each week, the hours of delivery, the amount and such details will be work ed out later. ed out later.

At the initial meeting 168 persons joined the cub acclaring they were not willing longer to pay 2.13 cents of the 14 cents they pay for each quart of milk as a tribute to the present system that involves waste motion, du-plicate deliveries and many other evils that the householder can remedy.

It is now up to the dealer to agree to try out the experiment, for by re-fusing he would be admitting the feasibility of the scheme. His view of the plan may be summed up as folows:

"If the efficiency of the delivery instead of 320 and if at least two-thirds stead of 320 and if at tenst two-thirms of the community sign up with the association, it would be a reasonable paying proposition for me says the dealer. "With 220 deliveries per unit, the 2 cents reduction in the re-

tall cost of milk, aggregating $80 on ies and $53.32 on the basis of 2,006 or two-thirds of the community, would be a hard item to make up. But his curtailing the labor cost by making 400 deliveries per unit, and from the benefits of having no had bills or broken or lost bottles, I figure I could make it pay me.

As to what will happen when his customers in this community whe have not and perhaps will not sign up with the association find that their neighbors are getting milk for their neighbors are getting milk for 12 cents from the same dealer to whom they pay 14, is another inlaresting question that confronts him. The question too of afternoon or special delivery looms large on the horizon of this dealer. Many of his customers want the latter services customers want the latter service and the morning also, yet this is tabooed under the association's plan and is part of their economies. Serves Thousand.

Already this dealer serves about one-quarter of this section, or about 1,000 homes. Five men deliver this milk, averaging 200 deliveries parman. A low average ordinarily.

milk, averaging 200 deliveries pagman. A low average ordinarily.

How much more quickly a milkman can serve 320 or 400 homes when they are contiguous with each other than the same number which are unsystematically scattered cannot be given before the experiment is tried. It is logical to expect a saving in time, bely just what the margin will be largely depends on the man. Meanwhile members of the Wilson Normal Community Center are exemplifying their motto. Each for all and all for each, and trying hard not to spill the milk.

"Pay cash in advance for at least a week's tickets.

"Replace the bottles you break.
Losses as a result of duplication of routes, bookkeeping, unpaid bills, night delivery, broken bottles, and purchase of small amounts cost the consumer 113 cents a quart, said Dr. Jackson, of the Community Center, at a meeting at the Community School building ten days ago. The amount of saving, he said, depends on the reforms adopted.
